

ABOUT YALE NEW HAVEN HEALTH SYSTEM CENTER FOR HEALTHCARE SOLUTIONS

As part of a large, nationally recognized nonprofit healthcare system, the Yale New Haven Health System Center for Healthcare Solutions (YNHHS-CHS) is dedicated to making national and international healthcare systems more effective, safe and secure. Leveraging its clinical and operational understanding of healthcare systems, extensive expertise and a national network of partners and subject matter experts developed, YNHHS-CHS disseminates programs and services in 49 states and territories across the country and internationally.

YNHHS-CHS is expert in translating academic and clinical research into practical solutions for real-world settings. With subject matter experts across a wide range of topics such as assessments, education and training, evaluations, planning, program implementation, background check systems, healthcare associated infections, health information technology and patient safety, YNHHS-CHS provides skilled personnel to support improvement efforts where and when they are needed.

Through its affiliated Yale New Haven Center for Emergency Preparedness and Disaster Response (YNH-CEPDR), YNHHS-CHS assists healthcare delivery organizations in meeting the challenges associated with preparing for a disaster.
